

Eileen McCullough

Eileen McCullough is a plein air watercolor artist. She lives in Huntington Beach, California and has made her coastal town her favorite subject matter. Her paintings capture everyday life, hiking through the Bolsa Chica wetlands, dining in outdoor cafes and walking dogs in Central Park. It is the artist's belief that a connection to your subject matter is imperative for a successful painting.

Eileen is currently the President of the Huntington Beach Art League. She is the Vice President of Watercolor West and serves as the Chairperson for the Demonstration Series. She teaches at the Huntington Beach Art Center and conducts workshops and demonstrations throughout Southern California. Her works are shown at the Laguna North Gallery and Crystal Cove Gallery in Laguna Beach. Her work was also shown in The 2018 Festival Of Arts in Laguna Beach.
